United We Serve

A Letter from UMRC Board Chair Rich Brown

"...UMRC continues to demonstrate its entrepreneurial spirit as the most diverse senior living organization in Michigan ..."

Rich Brown,UMRC Board Chair

am honored to serve UMRC as Chair of the Board of Trustees as we help guide and lead UMRC's visionary growth and expansion. With its 112 years of service, I am proud that UMRC has remained true to its faith-based roots, providing the most advanced and compassionate care for older adults of all walks of life. At a point when other organizations might rest on their laurels, UMRC continues to demonstrate its entrepreneurial spirit as the most diverse senior living organization in Michigan in terms of services, housing options, and income markets. From new Independent Living Prairie Cottages on our Chelsea campus to doubling the capacity of our Huron Valley PACE Center in Ypsilanti (Program of All-inclusive Care for the Elderly), UMRC is committed to serving an older adult population that is growing at an unprecedented rate.

Thanks to YOU – individuals, foundations, businesses, churches, staff, residents, and families – 2017 was a spectacular year for UMRC, the UMRC Foundation, and those we serve! You help us live out our mission of "wellness, dignity, and independence of older adults" each day. Your generosity allowed us to break ground on the largest construction project in UMRC's history, including expansion and renovations to our Kresge Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center and construction of a state-of-the-art Wellness Center. Your support of Life Enrichment programming and the Rivertown Resident Services fund promotes a sense of well-being and purpose for older adults. Your kindness means the safety net of Benevolent Care is stronger than ever.

It is an extraordinary time for UMRC! Thank you for helping us grow for the future!

Sincerely,

Kich Brown

A Letter from UMRC Foundation Board Chair Mark Ouimet

ersonally, I have always felt that we, as a society, do not give older adults the attention they deserve. I have heard people describe philanthropy for children as an investment, while support for aging is an expense. While no one would argue the importance of children, it is also vitally important that we care for those who have cared for us.

When I was a boy, I remember my grandmother sitting in a wheelchair in the nursing home where she spent her last years. It left a strong impression on me. Even then, I knew we could – and should – do better.

As the population of older adults continues to grow, I realize that now is the time for me to be involved and engaged to do my part for this underserved mission. I am so proud to serve as the UMRC Foundation Board Chair as UMRC takes on the largest construction project in its 112-year history, supported by UMRC Foundation's largest ever fundraising campaign, Growing to Serve.

Whether creating private rooms and welcoming spaces that feel like home for residents and guests at Kresge Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center; promoting fitness and vitality for older adults through our new Wellness Center; or elevating the essential role of our caregivers through the CNA Career Pathway Program and UMRC Foundation's Staff Scholarships, UMRC is unparalleled in providing outstanding care for older adults, regardless of their income level.

On behalf of the UMRC Foundation, thank you for being the key to our success in 2017! Together, we are United to Serve!

With warmest regard,

Mark C. Ouimet

Committed to Caring

Dick and Norma Sarns-

HONORARY CAMPAIGN CHAIRS

"UMRC has cared for a great number of our close friends and church members over the years in just about every UMRC location."

— Norma Sarns, Honorary Campaign Chair

ick and Norma Sarns are a team in every aspect of their lives. Dick, a WWII Navy veteran and engineer, and Norma, a teacher, established not one but two health-related businesses, developing life-saving surgical instruments and the world-renowned Sarns heart-lung machine. Later, their attention turned to rehabilitation for patients following heart surgery. In 1993, the Sarnses introduced NuStep in Ann Arbor, which celebrated the production of its 100,000th recumbent cross trainer in use worldwide in April 2017.

In addition to business, this couple shares a strong faith at West Side United Methodist Church and a firm commitment to serving older adults. It's what led them to support the UMRC Foundation's Benevolent Care Fund and to serve on the Foundation Board for more than a decade. They are also members of the Wesley Legacy Society, through a gift in their estate plan to the UMRC Foundation.

"We have always felt a sense of closeness to UMRC," Norma shares. "UMRC has cared for a great number of our close friends and church members over the years in just about every UMRC location. We are impressed with the options available to people of all needs and incomes, from Rivertown in Detroit, to Chelsea Retirement Community, to PACE (Programs of All-inclusive Care for the Elderly) in Ypsilanti, Lansing, and Jackson."

Today, the Sarnses continue as a team in supporting a bright future for older adults by serving as Honorary Chairs for UMRC Foundation's Growing to Serve campaign. "Our decision is connected to our faith," explains Dick. "We have found UMRC and UMRC Foundation to have integrity, and we have a lot of respect and confidence in the leadership team, Boards, and staff. We look forward to seeing a lot of exciting changes and continued expansion at UMRC."

Volunteers Rock Jamming with the huron valley pace Men's Group hen Steve Sarns of Dexter joined the UMRC Foundation Board, he had just been through some life-changing experiences, including cancer treatment and semi-retirement from his family's company. During a tour of UMRC's Huron Valley PACE in Ypsilanti, he wanted to help. "I love the concept of PACE," Steve says. "When I heard about their Men's Group, I said, 'That's it!' I wanted to be part of it!"

The Men's Group consists of a dozen or so PACE participants who meet once a week with social work intern, Max McIlroy, and volunteers, Steve Sarns and John Felton, whose wife, Sonja, is the Executive Director at Huron Valley PACE. Sonja suggested that John might enjoy volunteering after his retirement. "She always encouraged our children to volunteer," says John. "I now understand my family's passion for working with older adults."

Max says volunteering in retirement homes throughout high school sparked his interest in serving older adults, too; something he hopes to continue upon completing his Master's of Social Work degree at University of Michigan. "I believe in providing older adults opportunities to remain independent and active, which has an immensely positive impact on their overall health and well-being."

Men's Group covers a variety of topics, including mental health, grief, and family, along with strategies to overcome any difficulties they may be facing. "It's so helpful for them to have someone to listen to their stories," says Steve. "The Men's Group gives them purpose."

Other activities, including musical performances, have grown out of the interests and talents of the group.

Max says, "Men's Group is a very rewarding experience for me, and one I look forward to every week." Steve agrees. "I always gain something from these guys."

Annual Block Party a Hit

Rivertown Resident James Brown with Julia Szuper, Executive Director of Thome Rivertown.

RIVERTOWN BLOCK PARTY Serves Up Smiles

esidents and staff of UMRC's Thome Rivertown Neighborhood in Detroit enjoyed a sunny afternoon of food, music, and dancing at this year's 4th annual Block Party on June 8! Members of the UMRC Foundation team were among the volunteers who helped make the day a success.

"The older adults we serve at Rivertown look forward to this event each year," says Julia Szuper, Executive Director of Thome Rivertown Assisted Living. "It is the perfect time for residents to spend time outside with their friends, enjoy favorite picnic foods, and just have fun!"

One of the priorities of UMRC Foundation's Growing to Serve campaign is the Resident Services Fund for Rivertown's Assisted Living residents. "This fund will help provide items that are essential to our residents' quality of life," explains Julia. These include medical equipment, basic home furnishings and linens, exercise equipment to stay active, and more. To learn how you can help, contact the UMRC Foundation at

FOCUS ON FAITH

Dolores Chatigny

RESIDENT OF THE CEDARS OF DEXTER

retired hospice director, Dolores Chatigny grew up in the Catholic faith. A member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Dexter, Dolores serves as a Eucharistic minister, taking communion to shut-ins and bringing parishioners to church. "It is wonderful knowing I can help them live out their faith."

When her priest asked her to take on a grief ministry, she agreed. "I feel very honored to do this. When you've experienced grief, you know what it's like," says Dolores whose personal loss includes her mother as a young woman, one of her children, and her two husbands. "I understand how alone you can feel and that it is normal. It takes time and patience."

"My faith has helped me through these trials," says Dolores. "Now I use this experience to help others. I believe God was leading me here."

Dolores lives at The Cedars of Dexter with her toy poodle, Brutus. "I am so impressed with this beautiful community. I love living here."

"The love God gives you, you have to give to others. Love is the most important thing you can have. With love, you have peace."

— Dolores Chatigny

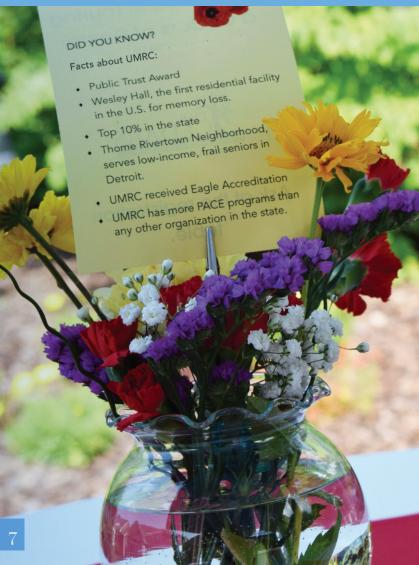

Pet Therapy Brings Joy.

Resident Betty Beese enjoys a visit from a furry friend at the first annual Halloween Dog Show at Glazier Commons. Thanks to Therapaws of Michigan, this event provided smiles and tail-wagging fun for residents, families, dogs, and owners! Therapy dogs visit the Chelsea Retirement Community campus an average of four days a week to enhance physical and mental well-being for older adults.

Elevating the Role of Caregiver

GRANT FROM RALPH C. WILSON, JR. FOUNDATION Highlights UMRC Care

n a recent AARP study, 84% of caregivers surveyed said they wished they had more information and training in caring for older adults.

UMRC understands the importance of appropriate education and training for its caregivers to be effective in the important work they accomplish each day. As part of the expansion and renovations to our Kresge Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center, UMRC is implementing the culture change model. This includes creating two households, one for traditional long-term care and one for older adults living with dementia, to transform Kresge Center into a warm, welcoming setting that feels like home. Private rooms and bathrooms, comfortable common living areas, and a focus on each resident's needs and wishes are the hallmark of culture change.

Hand in hand with the new construction is proper culture change training for all Kresge Center caregivers. A two-year grant of $275,000 from the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation is making this possible.

"As our nation is aging, the need to support caregivers has never been more important," says UMRC Foundation President Wendy Brightman. "We are grateful that the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation shares our goal to honor and elevate the role of the caregiver. Engaging and empowering our staff will result in greater care for the older adults we serve, most of whom are low-income."

In addition to the Wilson Foundation grant, proceeds of $110,885 raised at the UMRC Foundation's 8th annual Garden Party event in 2017 also support the culture change model, including a $7,000 grant from the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation.

UMRC will be the region's only skilled nursing center to incorporate this physical homelike setting and culture change philosophy into its service model, transforming the care its residents receive, regardless of their income.

ot long ago, three Kresge Center Certified Nursing Assistants (CNAs) had very different jobs. David Smith provided in-home care. Hannah Dunsmore cared for pets. Maggie Stafford waited tables. Then they learned about UMRC's CNA Career Pathway Program. For each of them, the program has been life-changing.

"I had been looking for a different direction," says Maggie, a mother of two. "I wanted to provide a different kind of service with long-term impact. This program offers that opportunity."

The CNA Career Pathway Program began in 2017 as a way to attract new career candidates or those seeking a second career in geriatric care. UMRC's program pays all associated training costs upfront, as well as a competitive hourly wage to qualified students while completing classes. In return, program graduates commit a minimum of one year of employment at UMRC's Kresge Rehabilitation and Healthcare Center.

Hannah and David started the program together. "I really like the care aspect of becoming a CNA," says Hannah. "It is interesting getting to know people, to hear their stories and appreciate the value of life." David, who works primarily on the rehabilitation floor, says, "I like seeing the guests' progress and helping them get back to their lives."

All three CNAs feel they have received a unique career opportunity. Thanks to the UMRC Foundation's Staff Scholarship program, each of them is considering further education in healthcare as well.

"It feels like UMRC wants us to succeed," says Hannah. "There are great opportunities for career development here – not many places would do that. There are amazing people working here."

UMRC EARNS Great Place to Work® CERTIFICATION

ne of UMRC's goals was to become an employer of choice. This year, Fortune's "Best Workplaces" lists identified a new category of Great Place To Work® certifications in the area of Aging Services. UMRC applied for this designation, and staff members were surveyed in May 2018.

As a result, UMRC is pleased to announce that it has achieved the Great Place To Work® certification, a nationally recognized award! UMRC is now eligible for placement on any of the Fortune "Best Workplaces" lists, including the 2018 "Best Workplaces in Aging Services" list. UMRC will be notified in early fall 2018 if it has achieved this specific designation.

"UMRC leaders and staff across our organization have worked tirelessly to support one another and provide the best possible care for our residents and participants," says UMRC Vice President of Human Resources, Michelle Baldwin Henderson. "We could not be prouder of this accomplishment!"

UMRC has earned the Great Place to Work® certification through May 2019. "We will continue to apply for this important designation each year, which will require continual improvement from UMRC to sustain," adds Michelle. "We accept this challenge!"

Advocate for Older Adults

Dawn Buchbinder

PROVIDES COMPASSIONATE CARE AT THOME PACE

awn Buchbinder, LMSW, has cared for older adults at Thome PACE in Jackson since it opened in 2016. "I learn so much from the participants," says Dawn. "They are so respectful and appreciative. At this stage of life, they long for a sense of family, and Thome PACE provides that for them. It's a great feeling."

As a social worker,
Dawn ensures that PACE
participants have the autonomy to live as independently as possible. Thome PACE
Executive Director Susan

Dem Book from Park Stool From

Decker describes Dawn as a "fierce advocate for older adults, checking her moral and ethical compass to ensure the right decisions are made for the right reasons." Dawn currently serves approximately 50 Thome PACE participants, both in-home and at the Day Health Center.

Part of the Thome PACE interdisciplinary team, Dawn says she loves meeting each day with her fellow teammates to plan each participant's care. "It's amazing!" says Dawn. "This only happens at PACE. It's great to work with such compassionate people."

'Puppy Raisers' Linda and Charlie Britton

rairie Cottage residents and long-time dog lovers, Linda and Charlie Britton weren't sure if they wanted the commitment of another pet. Then friends from church and Linda's quilt guild introduced them to Leader Dogs for the Blind. The Brittons were excited about the program and wanted to help. Today, Linda and Charlie are training their fourth leader dog, a yellow lab named Journey, to provide service for a blind or visually-impaired person.

As "puppy raisers", the couple is responsible for housebreaking the puppy, teaching good manners and basic obedience, and socializing the dog.

Linda and Charlie believe training a leader dog keeps them active and healthy, as well as offers social opportunities. "We automatically have something to talk about with people," says Linda.

"You have to be prepared to give your dog up after a year," says the couple, whose first two leader dogs are now helping clients in Texas and Costa Rica. "But, it is very rewarding and heartwarming when you get to meet the client with the dog you helped train," says Linda. "The dog really belongs to that person." ■
